Subject Company: Constellation Energy Group, Inc.
(Commission File No. 1-12869)

On April 28, 2011, Exelon sent the following message to certain of its employees:

Message from Ruth Ann Gillis

This message is being sent to all BSC employees on behalf of Ruth Ann Gillis, executive vice president and chief administrative and diversity officer, Exelon and president, Business Services Company.

Dear Colleagues:

By now, you have seen the news that Exelon has agreed to merge with Constellation Energy. This is exciting news and provides a growth platform for both of our companies by matching Exelon's industry clean generation fleet with Constellation's leading retail/wholesale energy business.

I understand with change comes concern. You may wonder what this means for you. There are still many unknowns, and things that will be worked out during the integration process. But there are a few things we know for certain:

First, the transaction will take time – Exelon does not expect to close this merger until early 2012

Second, the success of this merger is not based solely on “synergies” – While there will certainly be opportunities to realize savings through some consolidation of corporate functions and specific technologies, we will attempt to avoid massive restructuring or terminations. To help minimize the impact on employees, we will be taking several steps including the elimination of unfilled positions where feasible and by offering relocation plans where positions will be moving locations and the employee is asked to move. An example of a pending move is Power Team which will eventually move to Baltimore, along with some BSC positions supporting that operation.

Third, we need to stay focused. The transaction could become distracting if we allow it. We need to stay focused on the “blocking and tackling” of our day to day jobs.

You have my commitment, and that of the BSC leadership team, to open, transparent and complete information as soon as we can share it. In this regard, the integration team under Ron DeGregorio's leadership will be working through the merger details providing frequent information as the integration planning progresses.

Finally, I know I can count on our organization to continue its excellent work toward our Vision, and on those who will be working directly on our merger with Constellation to represent our values of respect and integrity throughout this important process.

Best regards,

Cautionary Statements Regarding Forward-Looking Information

Except for the historical information contained herein, certain of the matters discussed in this communication constitute “forward-looking statements” within the meaning of the Securities Act of 1933 and the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, both as amended by the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Words such as “may,” “will,” “anticipate,” “estimate,” “expect,” “project,” “intend,” “plan,” “believe,” “target,” “forecast,” and words and terms of similar substance used in connection with any discussion of future plans, actions, or events identify forward-looking statements. These forward-looking statements include, but are not limited to, statements regarding benefits of the proposed merger, integration plans and expected synergies, the expected timing of completion of the transaction, anticipated future financial and operating performance and results, including estimates for growth. These statements are based on the current expectations of management of Exelon Corporation (Exelon) and Constellation Energy Group, Inc. (Constellation), as applicable. There are a number of risks and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from the forward-looking statements included in this communication. For example, (1) the companies may be unable to obtain shareholder approvals required for the merger; (2) the companies may be unable to obtain regulatory approvals required for the merger, or required regulatory approvals may delay the merger or result in the imposition of conditions that could have a material adverse effect on the combined company or cause the companies to abandon the merger; (3) conditions to the closing of the merger may not be satisfied; (4) an unsolicited offer of another company to acquire assets or capital stock of Exelon or Constellation could interfere with the merger; (5) problems may arise in successfully integrating the businesses of the companies, which may result in the combined company not operating as effectively and efficiently as expected; (6) the combined company may be unable to achieve cost-cutting synergies or it may take longer than expected to achieve those synergies; (7) the merger may involve unexpected costs, unexpected liabilities or unexpected delays, or the effects of purchase accounting may be different from the companies’ expectations; (8) the credit ratings of the combined company or its subsidiaries may be different from what the companies expect; (9) the businesses of the companies may suffer as a result of uncertainty surrounding the merger; (10) the companies may not realize the values expected to be obtained for properties expected or required to be divested; (11) the industry may be subject to future regulatory or legislative actions that could adversely affect the companies; and (12) the companies may be adversely affected by other economic, business, and/or competitive factors. Other unknown or unpredictable factors could also have material adverse effects on future results, performance or achievements of the combined company. Discussions of some of these other important factors and assumptions are contained in Exelon’s and Constellation’s respective filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), and available at the SEC’s website at www.sec.gov, including: (1) Exelon’s 2010 Annual Report on Form 10-K in (a) ITEM 1A. Risk Factors, (b) ITEM 7. Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations and (c) ITEM 8. Financial Statements and Supplementary Data: Note 18; (2) Exelon’s Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the quarterly period ended March 31, 2011 in (a) Part II, Other Information, ITEM 1A. Risk Factors, (b) Part 1, Financial Information, ITEM 2. Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations and (c) Part I, Financial Information, ITEM 1. Financial Statements: Note 12; and (3) Constellation’s 2010 Annual Report on Form 10-K in (a) ITEM 1A. Risk Factors, (b) ITEM 7. Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations and (c) ITEM 8. Financial Statements and Supplementary Data: Note 12. These risks, as well as other risks associated with the proposed merger, will be more fully discussed in the joint proxy statement/prospectus that will be included in the Registration Statement on Form S-4 that Exelon will file with the SEC in connection with the proposed merger. In light of these risks, uncertainties, assumptions and factors, the forward-looking events discussed in this communication may not occur. Readers are cautioned not to place undue reliance on these forward-looking statements, which speak only as of the date of this communication. Neither Exelon nor Constellation undertake any obligation to publicly release any revision to its forward-looking statements to reflect events or circumstances after the date of this communication.
